WICHITA, Kans., Aug. 1 -- Election of Bob Dole as Kansas' next U.S. Senator was termed "vital for the good of all Kansans" by Paul Wunsch, Kingman attorney and long-time political leader in the state.

Speaking to a group of Dole workers at Sedgwick Dole-for-Senate headquarters, Wunsch said, "Dole clearly understands our problems, and his record of Congressional service indicates he can provide leadership to bring about solution of these problems. The people in Kansas can be assured of an efficient, friendly and helpful spokesman -- a worthy successor to Frank Carlson."

"It is important, too, that we nominate a Republican next Tuesday who can win in November, and Bob is a winner--a record of 12 election victories, including a landslide 68 percent victory margin in his Congressional race two years ago. The present situation demands a full-time commitment to the job, and Bob Dole has a 97 percent attendance record in eight years in Congress -- over 80 percent in this campaign year."

Wunsch also stressed Dole's age, "Not only has Dole demonstrated leadership and ability, but his age, 45, is a factor in this election. He is in a position to gain important seniority in the Senate."

Wunsch concluded his remarks by saying, "All of us will win with Bob Dole as our Senator. I urge all of my fellow citizens to consider the issues and the candidates and on the basis of the record, cast your vote for Bob Dole in the Republican primary election next Tuesday."
