WASHINGTON, D.C., July 24 -- U.S. Senator Bob Dole (R-Kans.) has a key role during the Future Farmers of America (FFA) national leadership and citizenship conference which opened here Sunday, July 20.

The six-day conference of FFA state presidents, national executive committee and adult advisors ends Saturday, July 26. Kansans attending the meeting are Loren D. Libby of Smith Center, state FFA president, and Earl Wineinger of Topeka, assistant supervisor of agricultural education.

A member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, Dole was selected by FFA national youth leaders to coordinate congressional participation in the conference.

Dole will host a breakfast today for the FFA youth and their Congressmen and Senators. He also hopes to introduce the young men to President Nixon and Vice President Agnew.

In addition, the Kansas Senator will serve as chairman of a panel discussion, "How Laws Are Made". Other panel members are U.S. Senator Birch Bayh (D-Ind.) and U.S. Congressmen Gerald Ford (R-Mich.), House Minority Leader, and Carl Albert (D-Okla.) House Majority Leader.
