FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WASHINGTON, D.C., SEPT. 20, 1971 -- "Checks for flags should be written to Keeper of the Stationary" reports U.S. Senator Bob Dole. But, the checks along with the requests should still be sent to his office.

Dole's office then orders the flags from Senate Stationary and sends them to the Architect of the Capitol who flies them over the Capitol and returns them to the Senator's office.

The flags, each with a certificate showing the date flown, are then mailed to those requesting them. There is no charge for flying the flags over the Capitol or for mailing.

The flags cost $3.42 for a 3'x5' and $6.84 for a 5'x8'.
