LAW ENFORCEMENT GRANT TO WASHBURN UNIVERSITY

WASHINGTON, D.C.--Senators Bob Dole and James Pearson today announced through their Washington offices a $44,992 Law Enforcement Assistance Administration grant from the Justice Department to Washburn University. Project director will be Dr. James M. Young.

The project is designed to establish a regional Criminal Justice Media Center capable of planning, developing and presenting filmed video tapes for use in law enforcement and correctional agencies. The major goal of the Criminal Justice Media Center will be to provide law enforcement and correctional agencies with effective and relevant training materials in the form of locally produced color video tapes, commercial films, books, journals and conference telephone systems.
