

NEWS from U.S. Senator Bob Dole

(R.—Kans.)

New Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510 (202) 224-6521

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CONTACT: Janet Anderson

Wednesday, August 4, 1976

Kim Wells

DOLE CRITICIZES "REFORMERS" ON TAX INDEXATION VOTE

"The tax reform disguise has now been stripped off the self-proclaimed reformers in the Senate," said Senator Bob Dole (R-Kansas) in a statement released today.

"Every one of these so-called tax reform advocates voted against the simplest and single most important tax reform in the entire tax debate. The Taft-Dole amendment would have eliminated the inflation tax from our personal income tax system."

Dole was referring to an amendment, defeated in the Senate yesterday, which would have automatically adjusted income tax brackets to take account of inflation. It is estimated that the amendment would have saved lower and middle income taxpayers some $40 billion over the next four years.

"By rejecting this amendment, these 'tax reformers' have clearly confirmed their dedication -- not to tax equity -- but rather to higher taxes, higher government spending, more inflation, and continued inflationary taxation.

"By eliminating the unlegislated and unjust tax increase generated by inflation, the tax indexing proposal would do more to benefit Americans of middle and low incomes than all the grand social spending schemes of the big government reformers.

"Because the design of these big spenders -- for Humphrey-Hawkins government jobs, for national health insurance, and the like -- are widely recognized, the Senate has repeatedly rejected their efforts to raise taxes by revoking what they consider to be loopholes.

"The tax reformers didn't even appear on the Senate floor to state their reasons, leaving instead the Chairman of the Finance Committee to raise the feeble objection that eliminating the automatic inflation tax increase might cause larger budget deficits. They were not present to explain why it isn't possible to fight the budget deficit by weeding out wasteful and duplicative government spending, to explain why the budget must be balanced out of the taxpayer's paycheck rather than out of the government's bloated payroll.

(over)

NEWS U.S. Senator Bob Dole

New Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510 (202) 224-6322
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Wednesday, August 4, 1978

(S-100)

"In light of the pledge of the Democratic party's platform and candidates to tax reform, it is well to ask if this rejection of simple tax equity is what they have in mind.

"This rejection of simple tax equity for all taxpayers -- equity among taxpayers and between the government and the taxes -- because it meant lower taxes gives a clear indication of what we could expect from a Democratic administration and Congress."

...the tax reform proposal would do more to benefit Americans of middle and low income than all the grand social spending schemes of the old government reformers.

...because the design of these big spenders -- for luxury-luxury government jobs, for national health insurance, and the like -- are widely recognized, the Senate has respectfully rejected their efforts to raise taxes by revoking what they consider to be loopholes.

The tax reform didn't even appear on the Senate floor to state their reasons, leaving instead the Chairman of the Finance Committee to raise the public objection that undermining the automatic inflation tax increases might cause larger budget deficits. They were not present to explain why it isn't possible to fight the budget deficit by working out wasteful and duplicative government spending, to insist that the budget must be balanced out of the tax-payer's paycheck rather than out of the government's direct payroll.

...By eliminating the untargeted and unjust tax increases generated by inflation, the tax reform proposal would do more to benefit Americans of middle and low income than all the grand social spending schemes of the old government reformers.

...because the design of these big spenders -- for luxury-luxury government jobs, for national health insurance, and the like -- are widely recognized, the Senate has respectfully rejected their efforts to raise taxes by revoking what they consider to be loopholes.

The tax reform didn't even appear on the Senate floor to state their reasons, leaving instead the Chairman of the Finance Committee to raise the public objection that undermining the automatic inflation tax increases might cause larger budget deficits. They were not present to explain why it isn't possible to fight the budget deficit by working out wasteful and duplicative government spending, to insist that the budget must be balanced out of the tax-payer's paycheck rather than out of the government's direct payroll.