SENATOR DOLE ANNOUNCES OFFICE CHANGES

WASHINGTON - Kansas Senator Bob Dole announced several additions and promotions in his personal office staff.

Nathan Muyskens of Lawrence, Kansas, joins the office as counsel to the Senator. Muyskens is a 1992 graduate of the University of Virginia, a 1995 graduate of the University of Kansas Law School, and is a member of the Virginia Bar. He previously worked in the U.S. District Court in Kansas City, Kansas.

Keira Franz of Wichita, Kansas, advances to legislative assistant for transportation. Franz is a 1992 graduate of the University of Kansas and has served in the Senator's Washington office for three years, most recently as a legislative correspondent for energy, environment and transportation issues. She continues to assist the Senator on environmental and energy issues.

Megan Lucas, of Northfield, Illinois, joins the office as systems administrator. Lucas is a 1995 graduate of Xavier University in Cincinnati, Ohio. She previously worked as a production assistant at C-SPAN.

Ron Seeber of El Dorado, Kansas, advances to legislative assistant for labor and various judiciary issues. Seeber is a 1991 graduate of the University of Kansas. He has served in the Senator's Washington office for three years, most recently as a legislative correspondent for labor and various judiciary issues.

Michelle White of Council Grove, Kansas, joins the office as a legislative correspondent for telecommunications and labor issues. White is a 1993 graduate of the University of Kansas, and candidate for a J.D. degree from Washburn University in Topeka in the spring of 1996. She previously served as an intern in Dole's office.

Lisa Reynolds, of Fayetteville, North Carolina, joins the office as assistant scheduler. Reynolds is a 1993 graduate of Elon College in Burlington, North Carolina. Previously she serves as staff assistant to Congressman David Funderburk (R-NC).
