

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

December 27, 1994

Dear Bob:

While we could not achieve broad-based agreement on a health reform initiative last year, there can be little disagreement that we still face the enormous problems of increasing health care costs and decreasing coverage. We need to confront these problems on a bipartisan basis and address the insecurities that too many Americans have about their health care. I am writing to reiterate my strong desire to work with you in this regard.

I remain firmly committed to providing insurance coverage for every American and containing health care costs for families, businesses, and Federal, State, and local governments. In the upcoming session of Congress, we can and should work together to take the first steps toward achieving these goals. We can pass legislation that includes measures to address the unfairness in the insurance market, make coverage more affordable for working families and children, assure quality and efficiency in the Medicare and Medicaid programs, and reduce the long-term Federal deficit.

We look forward to talking with you in the upcoming weeks about a bipartisan effort to deliver health care reform to the American public. Hillary and I send our best wishes for a safe and happy holiday season.

Sincerely,
