Mayor Williams Arrives in Time

Mayor Roger Williams and son, Pete, arrived in Russell a few seconds after Nancy Lane, introduced Gov. Robert Bennett starting the chain of talks from the platform on the courthouse lawn at noon Friday.

Miss Lane, president of the council, represented the city as a member of the official welcoming team.

"Roger, where have you been?" Miss Lane asked when she saw the mayor and his son arrive as she completed the introduction.

Mayor Williams left several days ago for Washington, D.C., to assist in a move Pete was making. They started toward Kansas City where Mrs. Williams was an alternate at the Republican convention only to have car trouble in Maryland. The unexpected delay and unexpected announcement of the pending Presidential visit to Russell left the mayor far from home.

Mayor Williams' return was completed by plane from Topeka. Immediately after the ceremony, Williams returned to Topeka to pick up his car and return again to Russell.

Mrs. Dole Ponders Decision

SALINA (UPI) — Federal Trade Commissioner Mary Elizabeth Hanford Dole says she will choose between her federal post and campaign trail between now and November.

Mrs. Dole, the wife of Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., the GOP vice presidential nominee, said she had been unable to discuss the matter with Dole since the announcement of his selection as President Ford's running mate.

She now serves on the Federal Trade Commission.

"You know we have really had no chance to sit down and contemplate what's happening to us," she said.

Mrs. Dole, attending a reception with her husband, said she had several options concerning the position.

"As soon as there's a quiet moment I really want to give some hard thought to that," she said. "It's been suggested that I might take a leave of absence or perhaps I will resign, I'm just not sure."

She said the decision was important to her role in the campaign.

"If I remain on the commission and remain active on the commission then I would not be on the campaign trail, so I have got that solved," she said.

No Sermon Sunday

Sunday worship at First Congregational Church will not include a sermon but will have vocal and instrumental selections with an emphasis on the contemporary. Among those sharing in the service with solo selections are Mrs. Steven Anschutz, Mrs. Tom Fowler and Dan King. An instrumental combo will also provide sacred music. The liturgy is June King.

Member of Ford's Staff Has Different Idea About Russell

Andy Stern, member of President Ford's staff, in charge of the local arrangements of the visit of President Gerald Ford and U.S. Sen. Bob Dole to Russell Friday, has a different idea about the vice-presidential candidate's home town than he has about other Presidential stops.

Talking with City Manager Jim Boyd Friday, Stern complimented the community on its arrangements for "Dole's homecoming." He said that he has never seen such combined effort and such effective cooperation.

"We usually spent from four to six days, or even longer, to set up a visit such as the one in Russell," Stern said. "You people did it in about 12 hours."

It wasn't until after 8 p.m. Thursday that the site, security, and facilities were approved. Until that time, everything was provisional.

By 10 p.m., committees had been formed, work assigned, and people contacted. While store owners were being contacted about provisions, local organizations were being contacted for volunteer workers, calls being made to assure transportation, and the wheels began slowly to turn.
