FOR RELEASE: SEPT. 9. 1971, 12:45 P.M.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 9, 1971 --- U.S. Senator Bob Dole (R-Kans.) called for Congressional support of the President's economic proposals today in a comment following President Nixon's address to the joint session of Congress.

The Kansas Senator said:

"Those persons who have been clamoring for action to bolster the economy now have the opportunity to demonstrate their good will. I am hopeful that the Congress will move rapidly to expedite passage of the President's dramatic proposals. All Americans will benefit from an economy not plagued by inflation and unemployment."
