Senator Bob Dole today announced that the General Services Administration has agreed to turn over 3,680 packages of surplus inflight food rations to the Kansas City Economic Opportunity Foundation for distribution to elderly, handicapped, and needy residents of Wyandotte County. Arrangements for delivery of the food to EOF are now being worked out.

The food will be available for needy individuals at the EOF office or delivery will be made to shut-ins who have previously expressed a need for additional food.

"These packaged meals are badly needed in many areas of Wyandotte County. Due to increasing food prices, many of our elderly residents have been hard pressed to obtain adequate food. EOF should be congratulated for ^{its} their successful efforts in behalf of these citizens."
