PAUL SWEAT IS NAMED KANSAS WINNER
OF COMMUNICATING FOR AGRICULTURE'S RURAL KNOWLEDGE BOWL

Washington, D.C. -- Kansas Sen. Bob Dole is pictured with Paul Sweat, Scandia, 1988 Kansas winner of the Communicating for Agriculture's Rural Knowledge Bowl.

In addition to meeting with Sen. Dole, Sweat and other state winners toured both the Capitol and the White House.

Students from across Kansas and the Midwest took two one-hour tests last fall to determine the students' knowledge of events and issues pertinent to rural America. Seven state winners were then chosen to come to Washington.

In a letter congratulating the winners, Dole noted the rapid pace of change in American agriculture and emphasized the importance of education in meeting the challenges of the future.
