

Bob Dole

NEWS

U. S. SENATOR FOR KANSAS

FROM:

SENATE REPUBLICAN LEADER

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
MONDAY, AUGUST 9, 1993

CONTACT: CLARKSON HINE
(202) 224-5358

BIPARTISANSHIP

Wichita, Kansas -- In response to President Clinton's speech today, Senator Dole made the following statement:

President Clinton is right. Americans do want bi-partisan support in the effort to find solutions to the many issues that concern them, not only on the budget, but health care and welfare reform, immigration, crime, and the North American Free Trade Agreement, among others.

Unfortunately, Democrats see bi-partisanship as having Republicans just simply sign off on their ideas. This isn't the kind of cooperation the American people are looking for, and it's not going to lead to solutions that have the support of both parties and the support of the majority of the American public.

I hope President Clinton truly does want bi-partisanship and cooperation on the tough issues facing Americans today. So far, he has only rarely asked for our cooperation, and ignored our efforts to help when it was offered.

President Clinton still acts as if the last presidential campaign was still in progress. Everybody else knows its over, and he won. The President can't have it both ways. If we cannot work with him, Republicans will attempt to try to work with the Democrat leadership in the Congress on upcoming issues and problems facing the country.

#

Bob Dole

NEWS

U. S. SENATOR FOR KANSAS

FROM:

SENATE REPUBLICAN LEADER

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
MONDAY, AUGUST 9, 1993

CONTACT: CLARKSON HINE
(202) 224-5358

BIPARTISANSHIP

Wichita, Kansas -- In response to President Clinton's speech today, Senator Dole made the following statement:

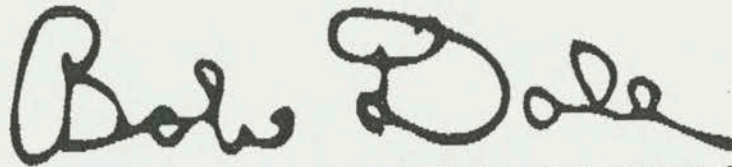

President Clinton is right. Americans do want bi-partisan support in the effort to find solutions to the many issues that concern them, not only on the budget, but health care and welfare reform, immigration, crime, and the North American Free Trade Agreement, among others.

Unfortunately, Democrats see bi-partisanship as having Republicans just simply sign off on their ideas. This isn't the kind of cooperation the American people are looking for, and it's not going to lead to solutions that have the support of both parties and the support of the majority of the American public.

I hope President Clinton truly does want bi-partisanship and cooperation on the tough issues facing Americans today. So far, he has only rarely asked for our cooperation, and ignored our efforts to help when it was offered.

President Clinton still acts as if the last presidential campaign was still in progress. Everybody else knows its over, and he won. The President can't have it both ways. If we cannot work with him, Republicans will attempt to try to work with the Democrat leadership in the Congress on upcoming issues and problems facing the country.

#

NEWS*U. S. SENATOR FOR KANSAS*FROM:*SENATE REPUBLICAN LEADERFOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
MONDAY, AUGUST 9, 1993CONTACT: CLARKSON HINE
(202) 224-5358

BIPARTISANSHIP

Wichita, Kansas -- In response to President Clinton's speech today, Senator Dole made the following statement:

President Clinton is right. Americans do want bi-partisan support in the effort to find solutions to the many issues that concern them, not only on the budget, but health care and welfare reform, immigration, crime, and the North American Free Trade Agreement, among others.

Unfortunately, Democrats see bi-partisanship as having Republicans just simply sign off on their ideas. This isn't the kind of cooperation the American people are looking for, and it's not going to lead to solutions that have the support of both parties and the support of the majority of the American public.

I hope President Clinton truly does want bi-partisanship and cooperation on the tough issues facing Americans today. So far, he has only rarely asked for our cooperation, and ignored our efforts to help when it was offered.

President Clinton still acts as if the last presidential campaign was still in progress. Everybody else knows its over, and he won. The President can't have it both ways. If we cannot work with him, Republicans will attempt to try to work with the Democrat leadership in the Congress on upcoming issues and problems facing the country.

#

Bob Dole

NEWS

U. S. SENATOR FOR KANSAS

FROM:

SENATE REPUBLICAN LEADER

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
MONDAY, AUGUST 9, 1993

CONTACT: CLARKSON HINE
(202) 224-5358

BIPARTISANSHIP

Wichita, Kansas -- In response to President Clinton's speech today, Senator Dole made the following statement:

President Clinton is right. Americans do want bi-partisan support in the effort to find solutions to the many issues that concern them, not only on the budget, but health care and welfare reform, immigration, crime, and the North American Free Trade Agreement, among others.

Unfortunately, Democrats see bi-partisanship as having Republicans just simply sign off on their ideas. This isn't the kind of cooperation the American people are looking for, and it's not going to lead to solutions that have the support of both parties and the support of the majority of the American public.

I hope President Clinton truly does want bi-partisanship and cooperation on the tough issues facing Americans today. So far, he has only rarely asked for our cooperation, and ignored our efforts to help when it was offered.

President Clinton still acts as if the last presidential campaign was still in progress. Everybody else knows its over, and he won. The President can't have it both ways. If we cannot work with him, Republicans will attempt to try to work with the Democrat leadership in the Congress on upcoming issues and problems facing the country.

###