Dear Folks:

School starts tomorrow and I guess unless something happens I'll be taking 5 hours of Sermon 5 hours of Economics and 2 hours of Rhetoric.

I started waiting tables yesterday, its kind of hard at first but I guess it'll become easier as we get onto it. I guess ~~as~~ Bud and I have to start our milk job tomorrow, which I don't like. We never get to bed before 12:00 and getting up at 5:00 is not very easy.

The freshman football team, scrimmaged the varsity yesterday for about an hour. I was playing Right End on the freshman first team, and what I mean those varsity boys are really tough. I spent half my time picking myself up. I have a black eye too as a result of the scrimmage. I think I have a pretty good chance of making the team permanently.

When are you going to send my clothes
up. I haven't had a clean shirt for 2 days.
I've been waiting for them all week. Can't anybody write in our family I haven't gotten a letter from home yet. Well it's 9:10 A.M. and I have to enroll at 11:00 so I'd better stop.

Send those clothes tonight.

Love
Babe.
