

Dear folks:

At last we found time to write home,
Nothing much has happened since I last wrote but I'm still studying every spare moment that I have. I start my seventh week tomorrow and it's getting tougher every week. We finished a full 16 weeks course in Algebra in 5 weeks so you can see just how much the program is speeded up. I don't know whether I'm learning anything or not but time will tell.

I told you that Bob and I had finally gotten together, we had a lot of fun talking about home and what we were going to do when the war is over. He really looks fine and is evidently satisfied with every thing. I stayed all night with Bob and came back to school Sunday morning.

I'm sending my watch home to have a crystal put in it. I'm afraid to have it fixed here for they might take some of the parts out of it. I had a little trouble with the watch the first couple of days; it always stopped about every 15 minutes; it might be because it is still new.

I haven't heard from Kenny and I haven't had time to write him either. I'll try to write him tonight and see what he has found out.

Tell Norma Jean not to rush into this Cadet nurses corp without finding out for sure what she is getting into. It will mean a lot of hard work and a lot different life than she used to living. It's true that there isn't much for her to do around Russell so she probably knows what she wants to do.

I had a letter from Mildred Krumpfus last week also so I must write her some time ~~soon~~ soon.

Study hall starts in 10 minutes so I must get my books ready. We study until 10 P.M. and then go to bed.

Goodnight

P.S. My pen really comes in handy. I use it about 10 times a day

Love

Bob
