Dear Robin:

This can't be more than a line for I have so many letters stacked up against me now that I don't know when they will be written. This kid has been in the interior decoration business for the past week painting the kitchen hereat home. Believe it or not, it is a slick job.

Had a line from Bunt who is reporting quite favorable rushing in dez old Russell, but he says that you now have that slick Ostrum lad to contend with so perhaps the enclosed check will help conteract his speed. Use the damn stuff to the best advantage which of course I know you will. Such checks only go to the fellows that produce the goods so for the good of ye olde treasurer don't broadcast it to other pats west where rushing seems to be slow.

I should talk about rushing for I am now worth much at it for there is no place to work from in the God forsaken hole. I write a few latter and get no answers, but then the alum in Pittsburg is helping there.

Write if you do find time and report on the situation for your school next fall. Naturally, a waiter's job is yours if you want it.

Fraternally,
