Dear folks:

Well I finally took time enough to drop you a line, the rest of the boys are at chow but I wasn't hungry so I decided not to eat. We really got some bad news, yesterday here it is - instead of twelve weeks Basic we are going to have "17" weeks, they didn't say why it was changed, but they just told us we would be here 17 weeks so now I have 13 weeks left instead of only seven, it looks like I am going to spend part of the winter in Texas, Paul got your package Sunday & I went over to get my share of it. Those cookies were really delicious the next time you send anything send some more heavy wool socks, they keep my feet from getting so many blisters, Yesterday I had R.P. + today we are going on a bike they are really starting to keep me busy, as it is a little cooler here now, she may my Basie, is now I should spend Thanksgiving at home if I get a package + they said we would + it will be 14 days

instead of five days WEP I must close for now as it is time to go back to work thank's a lot mom for the package + the money.

The way you handled the money
I sent home is ok.

Love
