I want to inform you of the mail that I received today, only nineteen letters and boy what I mean I was really happy I want to thank you from the bottom of my small heart, for writing, you can't imagine how happy I am, also some snapshots in fact forty eight in all and they are my most choice possession, in fact I have them in a book and they will always be, the most valuable thing I have ever owned, thanks again and if I may ask you to send me some more anytime you wish I will gladly appreciate them, The news from this land is about the same and the weather also, and that's about all there is too it, it is really very difficult for me to find something to write about as I have told you before but I do want you to hear from me as often as possible, so I will try to scribble you a few lines now and then, it sounds as though you are tearing the house apart, and I know it will be my wish when you have finished, you mentioned something about a fever, well maybe I will be home, and we can decide about it then also about the paint job, I met Jay Wisdome's brother in law today, you remember he married Ben Reiss's girl, his name is - sorry I forgot but he married Jay's sister, well I will say so long
