Dear folks:

I made a promise to myself that I would try to write to you every day this month, in honor of Dad's birthday so he goes for a few lines from this end of the world. The weather here is about the same as usual, except for the rain, it hasn't rained for two days very unusual for this country. I am feeling just fine and getting along o.k. hope this brief note finds all of you in the best of health, and happy. please don't worry about me as I am doing just fine, glad to hear that Harold B. is back home, if your ask me I think he is really going places and he is a good pilot, if he stays in the states please send me his address, or whenever he goes, I bet he was surprised to find everything so changed, I know if I saw a white woman it would scare me to death, I have seen very few and they are mixed, till Norma I still don't like the idea of her going to Marcus T. as I have seen the type of work they have to do, and it isn't my mis. I never told you before but I am no longer a "Madrin", and haven't been since I left the U.S.A.
